Sunderland Displaces Arsenal

Arsenal were held to a draw at Grimsby, and Sunderland, by beating Manchester City, have taken the lead in the First Division. Bolton had a comfortable win against Fulham at home and are still at the head of the Second Division. In the Third Division Charlton and Tranmere are still on top in their respective sections of the Third Division.

The Rangers' win over Albion, and St. Johnstone's defeat at Aberdeen, have placed the Rangers at the head of the Scottish League.

FINANCIAL SCANDAL

Paris, Nov. 10. The new financial scandal in which a financial group headed by Josef and Charles Levy are implicated appears to be of the greater dimension than at first anticipated. After the indictment has been brought against the two cousins by the public prosecutor, Josef Levy was arrested late last night and delivered up at the Haute prison. Numerous documents were seized at the bogus company's headquarters.—Transocean Kuo Min.

AMNESTY IN ITALY

Rome, Nov. 10. A total of 10,883 persons convicted of various crimes have been amnestied by the King of Italy on the occasion of the birth of a daughter to Crown Prince Umberto. Of the 203 serving sentences for political offences, 94 were released.—Transocean Kuo Min.

FRANCO-GERMAN AGREEMENT

Paris, Nov. 10. A Franco-German agreement to obviate collection of the same taxation in both countries was signed here on Friday. The text was initiated in Berlin in May, 1934. As soon as it is ratified by Hitler and Lebrun, it will come into force.—Transocean Kuo Min.

DIPLOMAT'S DEATH

Berlin, Nov. 10. The death is recorded of Hebelmar Mertens, at the age of 70, who for almost forty years represented Germany at important diplomatist posts abroad. Mertens was Minister to Cairo, Luxembourg, and Sofia, and Consul-General at Constantinople and other important places.—Transocean Kuo Min.

NEW GERMANY

London, Nov. 10. A striking tribute to New Germany was paid by Lord Rothermere in an article published in the "Daily Mail" on Saturday in which he reproaches the British Government with not having yet become conscious of the complete change in the international situation which has taken place since its advent to office. The assumption of dictatorial powers by Hitler is signifying not merely a change in the regime but the transformation of a strong and highly intelligent nation of nearly 70 millions into a most formidable national power of Marburg, Nov. 10. The 150th anniversary of Friedrich Schiller's birth was celebrated here on Saturday in all solemnity, all church bells pealing in chorus as the procession of citizens bearing wreaths and floral tributes marched to the house where the poet first saw light. Among those who visited the spot were Baron von Neurath, the Foreign Minister, Mergenthaler, the Württemberg Premier, and many prominent leaders of the National-Socialist party.

Meanwhile an extraordinary impressive service took place in Weimar at the poet's last resting place, attended by Hitler, Goebbels, Grand Duchess Sachsenweimar, Prince Karl August, Premier of Thuringia and many other distinguished personages in the new Reich.

Thousands of admirers of Germany's great poet-dramatist came to show their devotion and gratitude. In a memorial speech, Goebbels said "Had Schiller been living to-day he would have beyond doubt been the great literary champion of our revolution. In humility we bow before his artistic heritage which belongs to us because we alone have the strength and creative spirit to fulfill its mission.—Transocean Kuo Min.

the whole world. Great Britain's policy is peaceful and she has no ground for quarrel with the new powerful Germany with whom she honestly hopes and believes to enter in future relation, mutual esteem and friendship.—Transocean Kuo Min.

SHOOTING STRAIGHT

London, Nov. 10. General Sir Ian Hamilton, one of the distinguished leaders of Great Britain during the World War, addressing his countrymen at Glasgow said "My feelings towards Germans are frankly the following: It is a matter of complete indifference to me how they rule themselves. That is their own affair. But what does concern me is the question what kind of people are they. I am perfectly certain that if a tiger hunt were to be held in Europe I rather go hunting with the Germans than with any others. I say this purely from a professional point of view and not from a political or sentimental viewpoint. I do not want to shoot any more tigers and neither does anybody else. But, if we have to, then let us be on the side of those who hold their guns steady and shoot straight.—Transocean Kuo Min.

GERMAN JOBLESS

Berlin, Nov. 9. Although at this season of the year unemployment always increases, the official figures of the Reichsinstitute for Labour Exchanges issued on Friday show that the number of jobless registered now is 2,268,000 which is 13,800 less than the end of September, despite the fact that a large number of older jobless, not receiving relief, have re-registered hoping to find work again now that the general economic situation is improving.—Transocean Kuo Min.

DEBTS COMMITTEE

London, Nov. 9. The British Trade Minister, Mr. Walter Runciman has appointed a "German Debts Committee" which will advise the British Government on all matters connected with the practical operation of the Anglo-German Payment Agreement. Among the members are Sir Frederick Leth Ross, chief economic adviser to the British Government, Sir George Macdonough of the Federation of British Industries, Mr. Holland-Martin, director of the Bank of England, Lord Piender chief auditor and trustee of the City of London.—Transocean Kuo Min.

KING TO VISIT SOUTH COAST

Prelude To Silver Jubilee

London, Nov. 10. It is understood that His Majesty the King is contemplating a visit to the South Coast early in 1935 as a preliminary to the Silver Jubilee celebrations in May, when His Majesty has a heavy list of engagements.

Her Majesty, Queen Mary, recently visited one of the Duke of Devonshire's residences, Compton Place, Eastbourne, where the King could live during the more treacherous months of the year and enjoy the maximum winter sunshine.

Compton Place is a large Georgian mansion, half a mile from the sea, where King Edward and Queen Alexandra stayed on a number of occasions.—Reuter.

LORD MAYOR'S SHOW

London, Nov. 9. Despite an almost continuous rain, large crowds gathered in the streets here to witness the Lord Mayor's show.

The central feature of the procession which accompanied the new Lord Mayor, Sir Stephen Killik, in his famous coach, attended by postillions and footmen to the Court of Justice where the oath was taken, was the pageant of London and Londoners based on four of the novels of Charles Dickens.—British Wireless.

SUPERVISION OF PRICES

German Action

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Berlin, Nov. 10. The newly elected Reichscommissar for the supervision of prices, Goerdeler, had an interview with Pressmen setting forth the aims and methods to be pursued to attain the object for which the Fuehrer had empowered him. Goerdeler explained that stability of both prices and wages was essential for the success of the plans made by the Reichsgovernment for fighting unemployment. As regards the prices there had been rises during the last few months on such a scale that broad masses of German people at last felt the strain intolerable.

The Commissar declared that most price forming factors had not risen, for instance, wages, interest rates and taxes—these last have even fallen—overhead charges and so forth, so that it was time to complete the overhauling of the price level undertaken in order to ascertain who is to blame. Certain home grown and foreign raw stuffs it was admitted, had gone up in price but whether the rise was justified or not would have to be investigated. Goerdeler declared that the available amounts of raw stuffs, half-finished and manufactured goods, now in Germany were so great that there was not the least cause of uneasiness about covering the legitimate daily needs. Everything is being done to increase production of home grown raw stuffs.

Goerdeler concluded by saying that he would suppress all profit-taking ruthlessly. No further rises in prices might in future take place without the consent of the authorities.—Transocean Kuo Min.

PRICE OF BEER

Munich, Nov. 10. All Bavaria rejoiced this morning when on waking up it learned from the papers that the price for beer—national beverage—would go down and that the prices for food-stuffs would also be lowered.

The Bavarian Minister of State, Esser, swiftly reacting to the appeal of the Price Dictator, Goerdeler, delivered an eloquent plea to the producers in an effort to have the prices lowered. This appeal, so it is declared, has been received with keen appreciation and the upshot of it is that from November 15 and 19 respectively, producers will, of their own account, lower the prices of bread, buns, lard, butter, pork and potatoes. The lowering of prices in beer will also be effected. The beer consumers here, that is to say every Bavarian, cheered what it is described here as the best news for a long time.—Transocean Kuo Min.

STERN ACTION

Berlin, Nov. 9. The stiffening of the campaign against the rising of prices first marked by the appointment of Goerdeler as Reich Price Commissary, was still further reflected on Friday in the action of closing down no less than eight bakeries in the town of Cassel because it was discovered that the bread loaves were considerably underweight.

The bakeries must stay shut until the police has made an exhaustive investigation.—Transocean Kuo Min.

LADY PAGET'S TRIBUTE

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Oct. 28. Only one private personage laid a wreath on the late King Alexander's coffin at the lying-in-state. This was Lady Paget.

In Yugoslavia she is held in universal affection. When Sir Ralph Paget was British Minister at Belgrade during the Balkan wars, Lady Paget worked indefatigably for the Red Cross.

In 1914 Sir Ralph was Assistant Under-Secretary at the Foreign Office. But Lady Paget, on the outbreak of the World War, at once equipped a hospital unit and took it to Serbia.

For her courage in remaining with it at Skopje, when the place was captured by the Bulgarians, she was awarded the Grand Cross of the Order of St. Sava.

No other woman holds this, the highest Serbian decoration. Lady Paget went from England specially to pay a last tribute to her personal friend, King Alexander. She was deeply moved as she

NEW COMMODORE SON OF JUTLAND

APPOINTED

Due In Hong Kong Next April

London, Nov. 9. Captain C. G. Sedgwick, who until recently had been in command of H.M.S. Berwick, one of the County Class cruisers attached to the China Station, has been appointed to H.M.S. Tamar as Commodore-in-Charge of Naval Establishments in succession to Commodore Frank Elliott O.B.E. The appointment will be effective as from March 2, and Captain Sedgwick will arrive in the Colony to take over the duties as Commodore about April 17 next.—Reuter.

Captain C. G. Sedgwick has been in command of the Berwick for just over two years in the Far East. He was succeeded when the ship was recommissioned by Captain E. C. O. Thomson, R.N., hitherto in command of the Sir Vincent boy's training establishment.

Captain Sedgwick recently completed 32 years at sea, as he joined the battleship London as midshipman in June, 1902. He specialized in gunnery in 1910 and on completing his course was retained for the staff of Devonport gunnery school. In 1912-14 he was gunnery officer of the cruiser Liverpool. During the War he served afloat in the battleship Magnificent, the light cruiser Royalist, and the cruiser Courageous, in which for a short time he was on the staff of the late Vice-Admiral Sir Trevelyan Napier. He was afterwards in the Revenge, 1919-21 as gunnery officer on the staff of Vice-Admiral Sir Sydney Fremantle, and in 1923-25 as executive officer, the two periods being interspersed with service in the Ordnance Department at the Admiralty. As a captain since December, 1925, he has been Deputy Director of the Gunnery Division and has commanded the 3rd Destroyer Flotilla and the Devonport Gunnery School. The fact that he is to be relieved by Captain Thomson is the more interesting because in 1928 he succeeded Captain Thomson in command of the 3rd Flotilla in the Mediterranean.

COMMAND OF THE BERWICK

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Oct. 28. Captain E. R. Bent, D.S.C. who has served in the Naval Ordnance Department as Assistant and Deputy Director for 24 years, is to command the cruiser Berwick when she recommissions next month for service in China. The Berwick is now refitting at Devonport. Captain C. G. Sedgwick has commanded her for 24 years.

Captain Bent was decorated for his services at Gallipoli, where he was gunnery officer of the battleship Ocean until she was sunk by a mine, and afterwards on special service on the staffs of Admirals de Robeck and Wemyss. During 1918 he was gunnery officer of the Hercules, flagship of Vice-Admiral Browning in the Grand Fleet. Since the War he has qualified in staff duties and has commanded the cruisers Champion and Danae.

THEATRICALS AT OSBORNE

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Oct. 17. Mr. Willie Clarkson always said that among his pleasantest memories were those connected with the Royal Family.

He had met Queen Victoria scores of times, and pleased her greatly by his efforts at Osborne House, where he often went to arrange the wigs and costumes at her private theatricals. These performances were usually directed by Princess Beatrice.

"The members of the Royal Family were kindness itself to me," he once said, "and it was delightful to observe the absolute absence of fuss."

Mr. Clarkson supplied the wigs and costumes, and helped with the make-up at the historic fancy dress ball at Devonshire House, at which King Edward, then Prince of Wales, was dressed as a Knight of Malta.

passed by the King's bier with the members of the Royal houses and the foreign delegations.

The King Honours Mr. A. L. Hood

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Oct. 26. The heroic death of Rear-Admiral Hood at the Battle of Jutland is recalled in an announcement in the "London Gazette" last night. This stated that the King had ordained that Alexander Lambert Hood, the younger son of Rear-Admiral Hood, should "enjoy the same title, rank, place, pre-eminence and precedence as the younger son of a Viscount" as would have been due to him if his father had survived his brother, Grosvenor Arthur Alexander, Viscount Hood.

Rear-Admiral Hood commanded a squadron of battle-cruisers in the Battle of Jutland, and went down in his flagship Invincible. After the battle it was placed on official record that he "had led his squadron into action in a manner worthy of his great naval ancestors."

The King conferred on him the posthumous honours of K.C.B., M.V.O., and D.S.O. His widow was granted the style and precedence to which she would have been entitled had her husband survived to be invested as a K.C.E.

Famous Naval Ancestors

Rear-Admiral Hood was the third son of the fourth Viscount Hood, and a lineal descendant of the first peer, Samuel Hood, an admiral of outstanding eminence, whose exploits in the eighteenth century won for him successively a baronetcy, an Irish barony, and a viscountcy in the peerage of Great Britain. His wife was also awarded a peerage as Baroness Hood of Catherington. He served in the Navy for 54 years, and died at the age of 92.

On the death of the fifth Viscount last year the title was inherited by Rear-Admiral Hood's elder son, Samuel.

Alexander Hood, brother of the first Viscount Hood, also won renown as a naval commander and became successively Lord and Viscount Bridport. His great nephew, who succeeded him, married Lady Charlotte Nelson, daughter of Earl Nelson, brother of the hero of Trafalgar.

Nelson served under the first peer, Samuel Hood. It is recorded that a plan for an attack on the French Fleet, which was drawn up by Viscount Hood, partly inspired Nelson's plan of attack in the Battle of the Nile.

R.A.F. TO EXPAND

Programme Spread Over Five Years

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Oct. 28. Next year's Air Estimate will be increased by about £25,000,000 to a total of about £225,000,000.

This will represent the cost of ten or eleven of the new squadrons provided for in the Government's meagre expansion programme, and the cost of constructing several new aerodromes.

The programme provides for 41 new squadrons spread over five years. Next year's estimate will be the first substantial step towards the fulfilment of that inadequate programme.

In addition to the two new aerodromes, one near King's Lynn and one near Ely, which were announced a few weeks ago, negotiations are now going on for sites for six more aerodromes, some near the coast and some inland.

M.P.'s To Protest

The leisurely way in which the Government proposes to carry out its expansion programme, and the utter inadequacy of that programme, will be the subject of strong protests when the House of Commons reassembles a fortnight from next Tuesday.

As Lord Lloyd told the Conservative Party Conference last week, by the time the Government programme has been realised, we shall find ourselves still further behind other Air Powers and still more exposed to attack.

The conference demanded unambiguously more adequate defence measures, and this demand will be thrust resolutely upon the Government when the House meets again.

THE HOUSE OF ROTHSCHILD

Nathan's Mother Defiant

In his office, later that day, Nathan studied a tightly rolled slip of paper. It read:

"Nathan—London—Anti-Jewish riots have broken out here and all over Prussia. Come at once."

Amschel—Frankfurt.

As Nathan got out of his carriage at the entrance of the Jew street hoarse shouts greeted him. Glass lay in the street from windows shattered by volleys of stones. Impetuously Nathan walked through the crowd to the house with the red shield. His face was set and stern as he knocked at the door of his old home. Hesitantly it opened. He entered.

Gudula Rothschild welcomed her son as he came in to her.

"I want you to come away with us," Nathan said gravely. "You are not safe here."

"Do you think I'm afraid of that rabble?" the old woman said with a snort. "I've had eighty-eight years of it! I was born here, and I'll die here—and that won't be soon, either. The Lord isn't going to take me at eighty-eight when He can have me at a hundred!" She chuckled.

Amschel came in, followed by Hannah and Julie. Anxiously they conferred together.

A young man on horseback rode up to the entrance to the Jew Street. "Can you tell me which is the Rothschild house?" he asked the crowd.

"Yes!" One of the hoodlums picked up a stone. Flung it through the window. "That's it!" he cried.

Julie, standing morosely by the window, started as the stone crashed through. Looking out she saw Fitzroy. Trembling, she beckoned him toward the back door of the house.

Fitzroy's Plea

"Father's here," she told him unhappily. "He won't change his mind. What are we going to do?"

"I'm going to see him," Fritz said determinedly. "Darling—I love you—will you be a brave soldier, and wear this?" He drew a ring from his pocket. "My mother wore it," he said. But Nathan's voice checked him as he bent to slip it on the slim finger.

"Why have you come here?" Nathan demanded, coming up to them. "You knew my wishes."

I came for the same reason you did, sir," Fitzroy said earnestly. "I heard there was trouble here—that Julie was in danger."

"Go to your mother," Nathan told Julie. And flinging him a beseeching glance, she obeyed. "I have a good reason for keeping you and my daughter apart," Nathan said to the young man. "I desire that you respect my wishes."

"But we love each other," Fitzroy pleaded. "Her happiness as well as mine is involved."

"Walk through this Ghetto," Nathan said somberly. "Go into the Jewish quarter of any town in Prussia to-day and you will find men lying dead—Julie's people, killed by your people—for but one crime—that they were Jews. Remember that, when you dream of happiness for Julie—and for you."

"I'm sorry, sir—but I still love Julie," Fitzroy insisted.

"Julie is a Rothschild, and will not marry without her father's consent," Nathan returned firmly.

"Nathan!" Hannah's voice called suddenly, imperatively.

Napoleon's Escape

And Amschel's voice sounded, hoarse, excited: "Napoleon has escaped!"

As Nathan hurried to join them, Fitzroy stood for a moment, his face white with startled concern. Then, rushing from the house, he leaped on his horse and was off.

"This will change the map of Europe!" Amschel said excitedly.

"I know," Nathan mused, his face grim, lined with thought.

"Your office in London will be besieged by every foreign ambassador."

"I shall stay here," Nathan declared. "Once more they need the Rothschilds. Once more they need money. Very well—let them come to the Ghetto for it!"

It was, indeed, a startling crisis. During the hectic week that followed heads of Governments conferred with heads of armies. Bankers and ambassadors met anxiously together. It was rumoured that the French army was deserting Louis and rallying under the standard of Napoleon. It was rumoured that Napoleon had five hundred thousand soldiers on the French border. It was rumoured that Napoleon had asked the Rothschilds for a loan, guaranteeing full payment and double interest. It would take, Wellington said, millions to raise an army to stop him. It would take a ninety-mile line of soldiers. The line, General Blucher, added, would have to be thirty miles deep. With money, Wellington said, they could put enough men into the line to wipe Napoleon off the face of the earth. Without it—the face of the earth would be changed.

The Brothers in Conclave

And in Frankfurt the five Rothschild brothers conferred together. They had made peace for the Allies before, and peace had destroyed them. Once the Allies no longer needed them, they stoned the Jews. Their people were reproaching them for bringing oppression upon them. Carl Rothschild argued a refusal to support Napoleon meant the loss of a vast sum of money—it meant that James' Paris business would be wiped out, that Amschel's and Solomon's were in great danger.

"For a quarter of a century," Amschel argued, "we've stood by the Allies. And although we've got nice homes, carriages, fine clothes, as Jews we're still where we started—in the Jew street, waiting for the chains to be put up. I propose that we transfer our support to Napoleon, and start over with him." His lean face turned anxiously toward Nathan.

"Well, son?" Gudula prompted him.

"You're right Amschel, in all you say. You're right, all of you," Nathan turned to the other brothers. "Every word you have said is true. And yet—we must fight Napoleon!"

"Why?" James asked impetuously.

Nathan rose. "Well," he said slowly, "because we're Rothschilds."

"For the time being, anyway, we're something more than five rich Jews looking for the main chance! We all know," he went on earnestly, "the world knows—that there can be no peace in Europe, for Jew or Gentile, until Napoleon is gone—forever! You can't deny it—any of you!"

Gudula Rothschild's old eyes flashed with pride. She leaned toward Nathan.

"We've got to take the risk," Nathan continued, fervently. "We've got to swallow our pride—go on against every normal selfish impulse—and do what's right for the world. We can go hand in hand with Napoleon and spread this war over years. We can pay for fire and blood until all Europe is a slaughter-house—and the Jew will stand forever as a pawnbroker in lives! But we must stand, as we've always stood—not for war, but for peace! And if we go down, we will go down with honor. We'll leave no shame—anywhere."

Gudula put her withered hand on his. "My son," she said quietly, "that is what your father would have said." Amschel, Solomon, Carl and James exchanged thoughtful glances. And in each face was the same pride of brotherhood, of race. "I agree," Amschel said quickly, and James and Solomon held out their hands to Nathan, while Carl patted him on the back.

"Thanks," Nathan said in a hushed voice, his eyes moist.

The Allies Sue For Aid

Escorted by Lieutenant-Colonel Fitzroy, Prince Metternich, Count Ledrantz and Count Talleirand came to the House of the Red Shield in the Jew street of Frankfurt. Formally Nathan received them, and they sat down together in conference. Metternich was frankly penitent.

"We have not treated you fairly, Nathan," he said. "And now, frankly, we need you."

But Ledrantz stiffly interposed: "The Allies need money. We're not asking you to give anything. You are money-lenders, and you'll get your interest."

"Are you sure of that?" Nathan asked.

"Austria's bankrupt," Solomon commented tersely.

And James added: "France is in the hands of Napoleon."

"So is Italy," Carl supplied.

"And if Napoleon wins?" Solomon suggested.

"I suppose there's always a certain amount of risk," Prince Metternich began.

"We ask security," James stated.

"What security can you offer?" Ledrantz shrugged.

"Ah," James commented. "Then don't say you're not asking us to give anything. You're asking us to give a great deal."

"As you say," Nathan commented.

The Alhambra Theatre is at present contributing something new and different in entertainment by offering a specialties programme consisting entirely of Mickey Mouse Silly Symphony "Shorts."

All the cartoons have never been shown in the Colony before, and needless to say, they are thoroughly entertaining to both young and old. No introduction is necessary for this well-known character as far as entertainment is concerned, and a visit to the Alhambra is strongly recommended.

Besides these spicy "shorts," a pictorial record of the local "Tattoo" is also shown.

ed drily, "we're money-lenders, not philanthropists. You may as well know that Napoleon has approached us and offered twice as much as you can promise."

"How will Napoleon get the money to pay you?" Ledrantz growled.

"Steal it. But that's not our business," Nathan smiled.

"But—" Metternich looked aghast. "I was under the impression you always stood for peace."

"For twenty years," Nathan said slowly, "we have supported the peace of Europe. Now we are thinking of the peace of our own people."

"The Jews!" Ledrantz snorted.

"Napoleon will give us our freedom," Nathan said quietly. "Well? What have you to offer us?"

"What do you want?" Ledrantz demanded.

"Chained"

"Straight is the Way," the new picture that places Franchot Tone up in the ranks of the recognised stars, comes as one that should receive nothing but praise from the severest critics of the film industry.

When it comes on Thursday to the Queen's Theatre, it will be revealed as a wholesome drama of the tragedies and loves of an average New York family and is ably presented by a cast of excellent players.

The story is one of Benny Horowitz and his return to his family from prison. It is confronted by a powerful mental and physical struggle to live a life of freedom and to avoid the mistakes of his past.

Tone, heretofore, seen as a tuxedoed playboy, carries off the major honours as Benny, a role completely different from all his former ones and which should convince the most critical audience that he can be one of the most versatile actors of the screen.

The new picture also serves as the screen debut of Gladys George, whose outstanding portrayals brought her meteoric fame on the New York stage. She is seen as Shirley, the girl who had failed to await Benny's return from prison and who wages a vengeful campaign to win back his love.

Karen Morley, after two years' absence from the screen, returns to pictures with her role of Bertha, the orphaned girl who had cared for Benny's mother and whose love for him was a sincere one and not of the tinselled variety like Shirley's.

FASCIST ASSEMBLY IN ITALY

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press")

Rome, Nov. 11.

A ceremonious induction of 800 directorial members of 22 Fascist and economic organisations was performed by Il Duce in the historical Julius Caesar Hall, Colosseum.

Mussolini said this imposing assembly is perhaps the most important in Italian history. Twenty-two corporations began to-day to play their part in every branch of economy and politics for which they were created.

This assembly, said Il Duce, would in time replace the Parliament which belonged to the past historic era.

We are far from the state of stability yet. We must be prepared to go on fighting. In this country we have the common task to fulfil which is of great significance for the future of Europe. Perhaps it is a good mode of procedure not to make things too important that in reality are not of great importance. This applies in a certain measure to the Austrian question which many people regard as a cardinal issue but which, as far as the Reich is concerned, is a cultural question that could not endanger European peace."

The Toasts

Proposing the toast of the King, Cav. Uff. A. Bianconi said—
Ladies and Gentlemen, it is a great source of pleasure for me to thank you for your presence here on the anniversary of the birth day of His Majesty the King of Italy. Under the leadership of the Savoy dynasty and thanks to the new spirit inspired by Fascism and the genius of a great statesman the world has been able to witness the growing importance acquired by Italy in the Council of Nations. During this period stress has been laid upon the traditional friendship between Italy and the United Kingdom as a cornerstone of our politics in Europe and abroad. In pursuance of the same principle we have attained a growing understanding with the Republic of China which will very likely be furthered by the friendly gesture of Italy, by raising the Italian Legation in Shanghai to the rank of an Embassy (Applause).

His Honour the Chief Justice, Mr. A. D. A. MacGregor speaking on behalf of the guests, observed that the British people had come to regard the rejuvenation of Italy in recent years as one of the "bulwarks of peace." He called upon the gathering as representing the residents of Hong Kong to drink to the health of the King.

THE A. D. C.

Producing "Fresh Fields"

The Hong Kong A.D.C. presents "Fresh Fields," by Ivor Novello on December 5, 6, 7 and 8, at the China Fleet Club Theatre.

The production is of more than usual interest as no fewer than six of the cast of nine are making their first appearance on the local stage.

The A. D. C. in the past few years has done much towards encouraging fresh talent and the marked success of its recent productions has deservedly repaid the generous recognition accorded to newcomers. The response to an invitation given through the press to all interested in amateur theatricals was most gratifying and the reception held by the Club last month was so well attended that comparatively few were able to take an active part in the readings selected by the Committee. It is hoped that all who courteously responded to this invitation will keep in touch with the Club in view of other plays in consideration.

The selection of "Fresh Fields" as the first production of this season should be a popular choice. Ivor Novello is perhaps the most versatile of modern authors and the tremendous success achieved by the play in London last year clearly indicates that the preference for light comedy still holds first place in the public regard. "Fresh Fields" makes no pretence at an intricate plot but is down right comedy from start to finish. The misadventures of the newly-rich Mrs. Pidgeon and her family from Australia in the unaccustomed byways of High Society afford the author opportunities for witty dialogue and amusing situations of which he has taken ample advantage.

The local production has been carefully cast and the progress of rehearsals gives good promise of this being equal to the best of the light comedies produced by the A.D.C. in recent years. The China Fleet Club Theatre is now perhaps better known than formerly for its easy access, its comfort, and its general suitability, particularly in its clear acoustics, for the production of plays that depend much on witty dialogue. Booking opens at Anderson's Music Shop, Lee House Street on the 26th of November and as the seating accommodation is limited it will greatly facilitate the arrangements of the Club if the public will book early.

AMATEUR ART COMPETITION

Selections To Be Shown In London

The Hon. Secretary of the St. John Ambulance Association writes as follows:—

"I should like, through the medium of your paper, to clarify certain rules about 'The Amateur Art for All Ages' Competition which is being run by the St. John Ambulance Association, as I have received many queries about the same."

"In the first place, each entry should be accompanied by the entrance fee of 50 or 30 cents, according to the Section in which they are entered, as this is in the form of a small donation towards the new Cheung Chau Hospital."

"Secondly, paintings may be original or copied, although, naturally, the former stand a better chance."

"In London recently there has been an 'Amateur Art for All Ages' Exhibition, the proceeds being devoted towards Charity."

"It is intended after the local exhibition to send selected paintings to London for exhibition there, so I hope that the local attempt will be a success, both from a charitable and artistic point of view."

"The Cheung Chau Hospital will be formally opened on Wednesday, November 21 at 3 p.m. by Mrs. Borrett."

"Special launches will leave Blake Pier at 1.45 p.m. All those interested are cordially invited to attend."

LESSON SERMON

First Church Of Christ, Scientist

"Adam and Fallen Man" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 11th.

The Golden text was: "He that cometh from above is above all: he that is of the earth is earthly, and speaketh of the earth" (John 3:31).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "There was a man of the Pharisees, named Nicodemus, a ruler of the Jews: The same came to Jesus by night, and said unto him, Rabbi, we know that thou art a teacher come from God: for no man can do these miracles that thou doest, except God be with him. Jesus answered, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God. That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit" (John 3:1, 2, 5, 6).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Through discernment of the spiritual opposite of materiality, even the way through Christ. Truth, man will re-open with the key of divine Science the gates of Paradise which human beliefs have closed, and will find himself un-fallen, upright, pure, and free, not needing to consult almanacs for the probabilities either of his life or of the weather, not needing to study brainology to learn how much of a man he is" (p. 171).

'ALICE IN WONDERLAND'

MISS JOAN SHANNON THE
"HEROINE"Brilliant Function In Kowloon

One of the most brilliant functions ever witnessed in Kowloon took place at the St. Andrew's Church grounds on Saturday afternoon when the much-heralded "Alice in Wonderland" fete was held in the presence of a large gathering.

The grounds were transformed into a realistic presentation of the "Wonderland" which Alice discovered, by the cleverly-costumed characters of Lewis Carroll's famous book, colourful surroundings, gaily decorated stalls, and all the fun of the Fair.

Little Miss Joan Shannon, who was selected from a large number of applicants for the role of "Alice," played her part extremely well, and the quaint and unassuming manner she displayed as she paraded over her "domain" won the admiration of everyone present.

That the function met with considerable success can be gauged from the fact that those responsible have decided to hold the Fete again to-day, commencing at 2.30 p.m.

Accompanied by her "court attendants" all in fancy dress costumes, "Alice" arrived at the Churchyard in a motor-truck gaily decorated and was met on arrival by the Vicar of the Church, the Rev. J. R. Higgs. "Alice" was then introduced to the Hon. Mr. R. E. Lindsell, the chairman of the Fete.

Mr. Lindsell in his speech, remarked that it was a great honour to be chairman of such a fete. Both Mrs. Lindsell and himself were old Kowloon residents and had spent many happy years in the "Wonderland of Kowloon."

Mr. Lindsell then recited the following parody for the occasion: "Will you please roll up in hundreds said the Vicar to Kowloon."

There'll be others close behind you so you can't get here too soon. You can really have no notion how delightful it can be, to visit all the stalls and shows and then sit down to tea.

To St. Andrew's then, you parents with your children all repair. Now don't revoke, beloved folk, but come and join the Fair. Will you, won't you, will you, won't you, etc., etc.

Of course you will and have. "It is my great honour," concluded Mr. Lindsell, "to invite the young lady, selected from the crowd of competitors to be the Patron Goddess of your "Wonderland," to open the Fair."

ALICE'S SPEECH

"Alice" then made her address of welcome, reciting the long speech without hesitation in a clear voice. Gentlemen, Ladies and Chairman. — Oh dear, I feel that that is the wrong way round to begin with, but just everything has been topsy-turvy since I went down that rabbit hole. And now I have been asked to open this Fete this afternoon which of course is most topsy-turvy because I am sure it is the custom for a grand lady to open bazaars and fetes and all that sort of thing, and not a girl of my age.

But then after drinking that bottle marked "Drink me" I distinctly remember getting very much bigger so perhaps I am a grown-up lady after all. I cannot attempt, though, to explain myself, because I am not myself. Things are all queer to-day whereas yesterday everything went on as usual.

I almost remember feeling a little different when I got up this morning and I certainly feel very different since coming up in the procession.

However, this, as you know, is my Fete this afternoon and it is my fate to open it. I didn't mean that to be a joke, but somehow I just can't help saying things like that since I began my adventures.

And now I am thinking about something that makes me forget to talk. You will have lots of fun in this Wonderland. The March Hare is here, but as it is November perhaps he won't be quite so mad as he was in March. It is always teatime too at the Mad Hatter's Tea Party, but they have no time to wash things between whiles so they keep fowling round and they ask what happens when they come to the beginning!

And there are scores of lovely things to have, but as we have had nothing yet we can't take more. I mean we can't take less. It is very easy to take more than nothing away with us.

"A Good Cause"

But I really must try to be sensible or I shall never be understood and then the Fete will never be open. I have been told that the object of this Fete is to raise money for a good cause so I am

SUN YAT SEN'S
BIRTHDAY

Official Observance

To-day is the 68th anniversary of Dr. Sun Yat Sen's birth, and Chinese of the Kuo Min Tang Party in China, and throughout the world will pay homage to a man, who spent practically his whole life working for the success of the revolution, which made China a Republic.

The Chief observance will be held at Nanking, the Capital of the Nationalist Government, where the remains of Dr. Sun Yat Sen now lie in the vault in the stately mausoleum on the slopes of the Purple Mountain.

It will be remembered that Dr. Sun Yat Sen was intimately connected with Hong Kong, for it was here that he received part of his education as a medical student of the Hong Kong School of Medicine.

Dr. Sun Yat Sen was born in 1866 in the Heung Shan District, now named Chung Shan, in the province of Kwangtung.

His Uncle Sun Mee took him to Honolulu, when quite a child, and later he returned to Hong Kong and attended the Hong Kong School of Medicine, and after graduating in 1894, he established himself in practice at Macao, where he began to preach his revolutionary doctrines.

A premature attempt at revolution by Dr. Sun and others was made in 1895 which failed. Dr. Sun then fled for his life proceeding to Japan, Honolulu, the United States and England.

While in England he underwent the thrilling experience of being kidnapped in London by the servants of the Chinese (Manchu) Legation and held prisoner, pending arrangements by the Legation officials to smuggle him to China.

Fortunately, he managed to get into communication with Dr. James Cantle, his former tutor at Hong Kong who succeeded in moving the British Government to obtain his release.

TRAINING GALLOPS

Racing Boy And Flying
Tourist Impress

(BY "MORNING DEW")

Two very good gallops were seen at the course on Saturday. The first was by Racing Boy, who went over a mile in 2.12.2, running very comfortably, while the other good gallop was by Flying Tourist, who covered six furlongs in 1.35.1, finishing rather tired, in 31 seconds.

Another interesting gallop was that of Brilliant Star who has only last week returned from Shanghai. The pony has been entered for the St. Leger and his gallop was therefore of more than ordinary interest. He was sent over a slow mile and a quarter and gave a good impression. King's Warden did a useful mile and appears to be steadily improving. Hydroplane finished his mile and a quarter gallop very comfortably in thirty seconds!

Racing Heart went over a very impressive mile and a quarter and looks a good thing for the "Annie" St. Leger. Bag Tor and Mutiny Bag also went well.

MUNITIONS AND PEACE

Once every year—upon Armistice Day—men's thoughts turn to the sacrifice made by those who fell in the "War to end War." Yet are we any nearer the goal for which so heavy a price was paid? Some of the testimony which came before the American Senate Committee that investigated the munition industry, are disturbing. Thoughtful persons in all countries ask why private armament manufacturers are able to continue for years on end without any apparent interference, but on the contrary often with the closest co-operation of the governments.

To obtain a partial answer one need only to recall the days of

ONLY TEN DAYS IN OFFICE

Resignation In Austria

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press")
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, November 11, 3.30 p.m.)
Vienna, Nov. 10.

After having been in office for only ten days, the President of the Austrian State Council, the most important organization in the constitution of the new corporate State, Engineer Nouakh resigned on Saturday at midday. This step was utterly unexpected, causing widespread public surprise. It was officially stated in explanation that Nouakh had found himself unable to cope with his new duties and at the same time satisfactorily discharge the functions as Director of the Federal Railways.

By an authoritative source, however, another explanation was given. On Friday evening, the official organ of the Helmschutz, that is the Homeguards, "Der Helmschutz" announced in triumph that its nominations to the new corporation, the Helmschutz had scored a great victory contributing 33 per cent. of the councillors including Nouakh, the President who is 100 per cent. a Helmschutz. This article appeared on the front page under the title "On the way to Fascism." That this was a real political conviction of Nouakh is a revelation as Nouakh hitherto had not participated in politics. The article, however, sufficed to cause effervescence among the Christian-Socialists so that Nouakh, on his own initiative, preferred to retire.

the World War. At that time every belligerent government and almost every citizen of a warring nation, was only too grateful for productive munitions plants. These plants are essential in time of war. Governments know this and, as a measure of preparedness, feel that they must have their own plants or else help maintain private manufacturers at a certain minimum level of peace-time production by giving them contracts and by permitting them to seek added business abroad.

That is perhaps why private armament firms have been helped by their governments to sell goods in all parts of the world. That is why members of the governments, naval and military officers sometimes act in close collaboration with manufacturers of arms. That is why an American arms salesman charges that British royalty intervened to help Vickers Ltd., the largest British munitions firm, obtain a Polish contract.

The system which permits war to occur is what most needs attention. It has been proved, time and again, that profit alone motivates munition makers. It has been advanced that nationalisation of the armaments industry, with an end to private manufacture and a ban on export trade in munitions would advance world peace immeasurably. International supervision of the traffic in arms would help if governments would agree to it. But the problem never will be solved until nationalism is brought to an end. Instead of looking at our feet as we go ahead, we should keep our eyes on the real goal—international harmony.

Nationalism is a curious disease of modern society. If the same inflated ego were exhibited by individuals in their ordinary social life, it would shortly be diagnosed as a disagreeable nuisance and atrociously bad manners. Yet among nations the completely serious and humourless exaltation of self and the depreciation of others is a normal and everyday phenomenon. It is some aspect of nationalism that causes most wars, and the only ultimate solution is held to be the establishment of a real internationalism.

When it seems, as it often does, that the details and complexities of the disarmament issue and the problem of munitions are so confusing as to prevent an individual reaching a sound conclusion on the entire matter, it is helpful to remember that the real objective, ardently desired by civilized persons is everlasting international peace. That can be assured—not by tinkering with gun bones or increasing the budget for national defence—but by getting a clearer understanding of the proper relationship between individuals and between nations, and then by speaking and acting as logically suggested by that understanding.

Hangchow, Nov. 11.

Attended by many officials and engineers, the ceremony took place at the Zakow terminus of the Shanghai-Hangchow Railway of inaugurating the construction of a bridge across the Chientang providing through traffic on the Shanghai-Hangchow-Ningpo Railway in connection with the highways of the seven provinces.

The bridge provides a rail track, motor road and footpath approximately a kilometre in length and is second only to the one on the Peking-Hankow Railway spanning the Huangho.

The cost is estimated at $5,100,000, and the work is jointly financed by the Ministry of Railway and the Provincial Government including $160,000 loan from the British Boxer Funds, $1,000,000 appropriation from the National Economic Council and $2,000,000 advanced by five Chinese banks. Completion is expected early in 1936.

NEW BUILDINGS AT SHEK PEI

Formal Opening Ceremony

(From Our Special Correspondent)
Canton, Nov. 11.

The Sun Yat Sen University today celebrated its tenth anniversary. Festivity was added by the formal opening of the Schools of Law, Engineering and Agriculture this morning at the new buildings at Shek Pei and the laying of the corner stones of the School of Arts and new buildings of the School of Law.

An athletic meet was held concurrently at the old campus at Man Ming Road and Yuet Shau Road. High jump, long jump, hurdle race and other items were included in the programme.

A special train for visitors left the Canton-Kowloon Railway station at 10.15 a.m. to-day for the new campus at Shek Pei and returned here at 8.20 p.m. Others proceeded by motor cars to the new compound of the University.

There was a gathering of high civilian and military officials at the opening ceremony of the Schools of Law, Engineering and Agriculture. Among the speakers were Mr. Ou Fung Po, Provincial Commissioner of Finance, Mr. Liu Lu Ying, Director of Kuomintang Publicity of the South-west Executive Committee, and Mr. Teng Chik Yee, Dean of the School of Agriculture.

Mr. Chow Lu, President of the University, traced the establishment of the institution under the auspices of the late Dr. Sun Yat Sen, who instructed Mr. Chow Lu to organize the present institution for higher learning in the South-west. President Chow, who was appointed as first president of the University and then resumed his post since 1931, gave a brief survey of his efforts in raising funds for the construction of the new imposing buildings and grounds at Shek Pei.

The new site occupies an area of 9,000 acres. Located on a hill overlooking the Pearl River, the buildings are amidst picturesque surroundings, congenial for serious study and research.

OIL "SUBSIDY" ABOLISHED

Relief for Foreign Companies

(From Our Special Correspondent)
Canton, Nov. 11.

The three leading foreign oil companies here expressed relief over the abolition of the "subsidy" to the Chinese oil refining companies by a decision of the Provincial Department of Finance.

Hereafter the foreign companies will not meet the keen competition of the native refineries and will be able to recover their loss by increasing the price of kerosene products from $3.70 a tin of five gallons to the former level of $7 a tin.

The tax on crude oil, from which kerosene is refined, is now $1.50 Mex. a ton payable alike by foreign and Chinese refineries. Before the abolition of the subsidy, the Provincial Department of Finance refunded $1 to Chinese refineries as assistance or subsidy to this new Chinese industry.

To meet the situation, the three foreign companies here reduced the prices of kerosene. Now that the Chinese competitors are embarrassed by the lack of "subsidy" after October 29, they are no longer able to compete with the big foreign concerns.

The Native Oil Guild has 166 members, of whom one half have closed down owing to their poor quality. Cancellation of the rebate will force the remaining Chinese companies to go into liquidation. It is said. The disruption of this infant industry will mean a sacrifice of over $10,000,000 in capital and the unemployment of 45,000 workers.

Chinese oil companies are wondering why the rebate is cancelled, because the Provincial Department of Finance will not be benefited by the suspension of their concerns. Moreover, it is pointed out that the poor people will suffer by the increasing price of kerosene, which is needed for illuminating purposes.

Foreign oil companies are now asserting their predominance in this industry. Even oil from Soviet Russia is ousted from the local markets largely owing to high import tariff.

If Gossip We Must

(By NIGHTBIRD)

The past week has been quite a busy one for the gossip writers and there is so much to write about to start. I suppose you must have heard that Miss Rachael Smalley, daughter of the popular medical officer in charge of the Kowloon Hospital, and Mrs. Smalley underwent an operation a week ago today. Miss Smalley is a very keen supporter of the Ladies' Hockey Club and is perhaps the most popular in the younger set. Her host of friends must be glad to know that she is doing well.

Here in Hong Kong one hears of so many parties that it is hard to remember them all, but I was told that Miss Mary Manuk, an old resident of the Colony, gave a tea party to celebrate her birthday (it was on Wednesday, I think), and amongst those who attended was Mrs. Passmore looking extremely charming in a blue ensemble.

THE PREMIER

It is a pity that we do not have more "first nights" at the local theatres for the two that we have had proved to be in every way successful. You will remember, of course, that we first had the "Cavalcade" gala and on Friday night, "The House of Rothschild" was shown to the public here for the first time. As regards the picture itself George Arliss was excellent throughout and his various sallies were typical of the part he was taking. I am thinking of the brilliant repartee to the cabman at Downing Street. The King's Theatre also put on an excellent Silly Symphony that night.

There were so many people there that we had quite a fashion parade as a prelude to the picture. His Excellency the Governor and Lady Peel were the guests of the King's Theatre and Mr. and Mrs. Mossop (from Shanghai) were also among those who attended. The Chief Justice, Mr. A. D. A. Macgregor was there with Mrs. Macgregor while the Pulse Judge, Mr. Justice Lindsell also brought his mensahb along. Then I saw Mr. and Mrs. Trautman. The former must be very busy these days filling the post of Colonial Secretary while Sir Thomas Southorn is touring the North but I was glad that he looked extremely fit and well despite his added cares.

On Saturday night Lady Peel accompanied by Lord and Lady Douglas Hamilton went to the circus at Wanchai while earlier in the week Lady Peel opened the Cheer-O Club and also went out to Stanley to St. Stephen's College so you will see that she had a very busy time. By the way, have you heard that Mrs. Felix Joseph is returning with her niece on the "Rampura" which is due on Wednesday?

THE ROSE ROOM

Kowloon came into its own on Saturday night when the Rose

Room in the Peninsula Hotel was re-opened for the season. There were some 380 people present and in addition to the usual attractions offered at the dances in the Peninsula, the management gave us "The Three Chocolaters" who "tapped and danced" in real traditional style. It was disappointing though that the much heralded fashion parade did not come off for we did so want to see those pretty gowns. We were intrigued to see the selected 6 Society Girl Mannequins.

Miss Whitham made a very pretty picture in her gown of coral silk. Eunice was in black combined with dull silver lame while Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Pearce had a big party which included Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Harvey and Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Fredericks. Noticed, however that Mr. Alec Pearce had a party of his own which included the Misses Audrey Steel and Eve O'Hagan. Miss Steel was very pretty in black while I thought the green that Mrs. Pearce chose suited her well.

The pretty daughters of Col. Boyd were in the same party as the Fairies sisters. This was a very jolly party indeed, made up as it was of bright young people and in almost the centre of the room were Mr. and Mrs. Mike Turner. They had a "commanding position" and could see everything that went on and Mr. Turner looked so cheerful too. I saw Mrs. Denys Reiss dancing with Commodore Elliott. She had a white satin dress on and two late arrivals were the Misses Pamela Scott Harston in red, and Elsie Lamont in pale green with the high Russian collar effect which blended excellently with the low back.

Always full of smiles, Miss Pat Master was again in a happy mood and this time she wore black. We missed Miss Bee Walker who is always where the younger set is found. A little bird whispers that she will be soon changing her name. We wonder if it was a martin who brought the glad tidings!

Mr. and Mrs. Wright were in Mrs. Suckling's party. The latter was in black with touches of red velvet in the back of the dress.

With so many U. S. ships in the harbour, it was not surprising to see so many wives of the American naval officers present and among them I thought that Mrs. Gregg, in beige satin, was certainly enjoying herself. She has a unique way of dressing, and also a unique style of dancing, and very nice too! In a black dress with silver sleeves, Mrs. Beck looked very pretty, and after the "Alice in Wonderland" Fair which closed at midnight, quite a number of young people came over to the dance. Speaking of the Fair itself it was such a success that they are having it again to-day.

POPPY DAY

I think this was the first time since 1918 that we had to buy our poppies on November 10th. Instead of on the 11th. I was told that the reason why the street sale was conducted a day earlier was that the organisers wanted to collect as much as possible and they were afraid that if the sale of poppies was left till the Sunday, "very few people would be in town" and trade would consequently suffer.

The ladies of the Colony are to be congratulated on the way they went about their business and so thorough were they in their methods that by 10 o'clock almost everybody in town was wearing one of the familiar red flowers. In addition to the street sale there were the usual auction of posters etc and Earl Haig's Fund should benefit considerably through Hong Kong's effort. Kowloon Cricket Club are holding a dance to-night in aid of Poppy Day.

THE CRICKET INTERPORT

The cricket interport is now what may be termed "ancient history" but there was a very pleasing reunion, if reunion it can be called, of members of the team which went to Shanghai last Tuesday night when Mrs. T. E. Pearce entertained them to dinner. It was a tremendous success and everybody had such a delightful time that they agreed that Mrs. Pearce's dinner was one of the most enjoyable items on the interport programme.

SHING MUN AFFRAY

Serious Riot Last Night

A report of a very serious affray at Shing Mun reached us late last night, in which it was said that one man was killed.

It appears that shortly after 9 p.m. a dispute arose between the Northern and Cantonese workmen which reached such a stage that a Chinese detective, C400, Yung Chuen, attempted to effect an arrest. The report continues that this was resented by the disputants who tried to release one of their number. The situation became so threatening that the officer had to draw his revolver in self-defence, and in the struggles it was discharged when one man was mortally wounded. This so infuriated the mob that they set upon the detective. In the meantime an alarm had been sent to the nearest Police Station, and when the reinforcements arrived they managed to rescue the officer who was in a very bad way indeed. He was immediately rushed to the Kowloon Hospital.

A large number of men have been detained for investigations.

Paris, Nov. 9.

Members of the new cabinet took over their duties in the course of Friday. M. Flanin himself relieved Doumergue towards midday. Doumergue will return to Tournefeuille in a few days time, leaving the capital unobtrusively.

The first meeting of the new cabinet took place at 5 p.m. when Flanin told his colleagues that the situation in France, as the result of the crisis just passed, is so grave that it is the Parliament's duty to pass the budget without delay and at once proceed with the fight against the economic crisis.

Discussion on the constitutional reform cannot take place before next February. In any case, Flanin, political armistice will be maintained.

CONDITIONS IN THE SAAR

Buerckel's Special Mission To Rome

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press").
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1891. Received, November 11, 4:30 a.m.)

Neustadt, Nov. 10. After his return to the Reich from the Rome deliberations, Hitler's Saar commissar, Buerckel, made a statement to the Press on Saturday indicating the nature of his special mission and the results achieved. The chief object, he said, of his mission was to clear up misconceptions in the League of Nations' circles about Germany's attitude towards the present conditions in the Saar territory. Buerckel emphasised in Rome that on the German side no intention of a putsch ever existed nor ever could, because the Saar is 100 per cent. German and the ultimate result of the plebiscite is not in doubt.

Buerckel presented the Rome Committee of Three a demand that French troops should be withdrawn from the vicinity of the Saar frontier and that emigres should be evicted from the Saar. In any case said Buerckel, their situation would become untenable as soon as the Saar Governing Commission, the French mines administration and the emigre Press disappeared.

ILLEGAL ACTS

Geneva, Nov. 10. The Saar Governing Commission's report on the alleged activities of the German Front organisation in the Saar territory which was published here by the League Secretariat and covered 28 printed pages that the German Front is merely a continuation of the National-Socialist party.

The report deals at length with the alleged relations existing between the German Front on the one hand and the civil servants in the Saar basin as well as the Reich authorities on the other. President Knox of the Saar Governing Commission admits, in his covering letter, that the German Front is by no means alone guilty of illegal acts since its adversaries also often caused serious disorders. Knox also states that the Saar territory's representative of the Governing Commission had opposed the report and expressly declared that he could not consider the German Front's activities as dangerous.

MINISTERS CONFER

Paris, Nov. 9. It is semi-officially announced that on Friday forenoon the German Ambassador, Koester, called on Foreign Minister Laval to inform him of the position taken up by the German Government in the question of despatching troops to the Saar. Simultaneously, the German diplomatic representatives in London, Rome and Brussels paid similar calls on the respective governments with the same mission.

M. Laval also received on Friday forenoon the French Ambassador to Berlin, Francois Bonaparte, when all questions now outstanding, between France and Germany were discussed exhaustively. This was the first time Francois Bonaparte had the opportunity to come into personal contact with Laval since the latter became foreign minister.

ANOTHER TALK

Paris, Nov. 9. The second conversation on the subject of the Saar the German Ambassador had on Friday with Laval lasted over one hour. The most friendly tone prevailed throughout. The discussion turned chiefly on the correct interpretation of the former League of Nations' decision already often cited. No agreement could be reached because both parties adhered tenaciously to their own views. Both Herr Koester and M. Laval expressed the hope that in actual practice the question of reinforcement of the Saar police would never become acute. The upshot was that both diplomats were clear that the decision on the question of international law of this nature would have to be left for interpretation to competent international tribunals.

NEW DEVELOPMENT IN NAVAL TALKS

Report Of Anglo-Japanese Alliance

London, Nov. 11. The "Sunday Referee" understands that as the result of a visit to Mr. Ramsay MacDonald's country residence last week-end of the Japanese naval delegates, the way has been cleared for an agreement in principle which would enable the conference to meet next year.

The Japanese have now intimated that they are willing to accept something less than naval parity owing to the revival in a new form of an Anglo-Japanese alliance. The "Sunday Referee" says that this development was brought about as the result of damage to British interests in the Far East which the severance of the old Anglo-Japanese treaty occasioned and should lead to an Anglo-Japanese arrangement to end the cotton war.

The paper adds that Germany has already reached an understanding with Japan and the present Anglo-Japanese development may result in a new alliance which will seriously weaken what remains of the Franco-British entente.

It would, however, appear that the progress and general trend of the discussions have been communicated by the Japanese delegates to Tokyo. Press messages from Japan state that the report from the delegation is under consideration.

HOMAGE TO LATE KING ALEXANDER

French Officials Present At Ceremony

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press")

Paris, Nov. 11. The officials of France last night in a stirring scene paid homage to the late King Alexander. The commemoration took place on the eve of the Armistice celebrations. Beneath the arches of the vault there was erected a catafalque on which was deposited the death-mask of the Yugoslav King. Behind the catafalque was hung a huge silver brocade flag as a replica of the late King's personal standard. Three chandeliers gave a flickering and subdued light. The Republican guards were in full dress with white trousers, top boots, long white gloves, blue tunics set off with red and silver helmets with black aigrettes and golden swords.

Tributes Paid To The Dead

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Munich, Nov. 9. Masses of veterans of the National-Socialist Party assembled in front of "Feldhernehalle" that is "Hall of Heroes" here on Friday in an impressive ceremony, honouring sixteen comrades and pioneers of the National-Socialist movement who fell in the rising of November 9, 1923. Suddenly in the sound of muffled drums, Hitler accompanied by Hess, Himmler, chief of the Blackcoats SS, and Wagner, the Munich district leader, appeared bearing an enormous laurel wreath which the Fuehrer deposited at the foot of the memorial just as the first of sixteen guns boomed out, each one symbolising a tribute Germany is paying to-day to each of one of the sixteen dead.

This ceremony was followed by the induction into full membership of the National-Socialist Party of a number of Hitler youth to whom the Fuehrer addressed a short but impressive speech urging the same loyalty, bravery and inflexibility that characterised the pioneers of the National-Socialist movement. SENIOR GAMES

Playing all round better football the South China "A" defeated the Club by 5 goals to 1 and the score does not in the least exaggerate the run of the play. With the exception of Pote-Hunt there was really no defence in the Club team.

Following a foul against the Chinese Howe scored from close in, to be followed closely after, by Fung's brilliant equaliser. The second Chinese goal was obtained through a penalty. The third goal was scored in Ip's typical style, the ball crashing into the net from nowhere, it seemed. After the interval, Tam Kong Pak, accepting a pass from Tso Kwai Shing, scored South China's fourth goal and shortly after Fung struck the under portion of the crossbar with a rasping shot which was hotly disputed by the Club.

Near the close of the game a penalty was awarded for a foul against Howe and Pote-Hunt missed from the "spot kick."

POLICE v. LINCOLNS

The Police defeated the Lincolns by the odd goal in five, although at one time they were two goals in arrears. Within 30 seconds from the start, Higgins scored for the Lincolns, by a header and, following unsuccessful efforts by Stevens and Pile for the Police, Baldry scored the second. Close to the interval Johnson reduced the deficit by a rising shot. After the resumption, the Police were playing better football, both in defence and attack, and in stopping a shot from Greene, the Lincolns goalkeeper allowed the ball to slip through his hands past the line. Victory was not long denied to South China was first and the Navy second in one of the heats while South Wales Borderers were the other entrants into the final. The Youth's Association were the other team that secured a place in the other heat. The remaining events will be continued to-day and at the conclusion of the sports, the Vice-President of the South China Athletic Association will present the prizes.

HOPEFUL SIGNS IN CHINA

U.S. Minister Reports To Washington

CHINESE COASTAL SHIPPING RECOVERY

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Shanghai, Nov. 5.

Mr. Nelson T. Johnson, the United States Minister to China who left this country early last month for a brief holiday visit to his home-land, was able to combine business with pleasure when he renewed contact with State Department officials in Washington, and apprised the American Foreign Office of most recent and well-informed views of conditions prevailing today in China. In his own words, "Conditions are quiet and good, despite some effects of the depression." It may be interesting to add that such an expression of opinion is not the glowing optimism of an out and out Sinophile, but based on careful and often close first-hand study by the members of the American legation. One of them, for instance, Mr. Julian Arnold, the United States Commercial Attaché in Peking, has travelled very extensively throughout China, and his knowledge of the interior provinces is probably rivalled by that of only a few missionaries. It was Mr. Arnold who early this year, told a gathering of pressmen that too much stress upon wars and rumours of wars is laid in the news cables abroad. Instead of the forces operating towards the creation of a new China, and that too little is known about the constructive developments going on in various parts of the country.

REMARKABLE ACHIEVEMENTS

Mr. Arnold, who is in the fortunate position of being able to travel about considerably in China and seeing things for himself, thus notes that while Press correspondents kept a keen eye on the doings of certain Szechuen war-lords, nothing has been published abroad about such things as the building of a 300-mile motor road between Chingking and Chengtu—in the very same province where a "war" is being fully reported!—nor about the National Economic Council's plans for building 15,000 miles of roads (nearly half being completed or in course of completion at present), nor about the gradual replacement of the camel, mule, donkey, wheel-barrow and sedan-chair, by the motor-bus, truck and car as a normal means of locomotion.

Again in the matter of town-planning, Mr. Arnold has observed that in China to-day there are more cities under construction than ever before in any other part of the world's history; and that the widening of city-streets has brought along other civic improvements, such as telephones, electric lighting, water-works, playgrounds and public health facilities. He cited Amoy, as an instance, which ten years ago was one of the dirtiest and most sordid cities in China, but is to-day completely transformed, with wide roads, well paved and lighted, pure water from the hill reservoirs, beautiful parks, athletic fields, and regular motor-bus services along the thoroughfares radiating through all parts of the city. Scores of other cities are undergoing similar transformations.

Finally, it was Mr. Arnold who emphasised the fact that only by travelling through the interior is one able to appreciate the reconstruction going on in China, and who mentioned that his official review of Chinese trade and industry during 1932, so much surprised the American public about the amount of constructive work going on in China that they wrote back to tell him about it!

LOAN ARREARS PAID OFF

At the same time that Mr. Johnson was giving his report to Washington, and seeming almost as if this country was supplying a concrete example to show that his optimism was not wrong, the Ministry of Finance in Nanking announced that a quarter of a million pounds sterling, plus accrued interest, had been remitted to London by the Chief Inspectorate of Salt Revenue to pay the 1934 instalment of principal of the Anglo-French Loan of 1908. The said remittance completes payment of all arrears due to bondholders of this loan. This payment, said Dr. Kung, the Finance Minister, is an important step towards rehabilitation of the salt-revenue loans of the Chinese Government. In 1929 a plan was evolved providing for gradual payment of the arrears of such loans—first, of interest, and then of principal. Payment of arrears of interest of the Anglo-French and Crip loans was completed by the end of 1930; while systematic progress was also made towards liquidating the arrears of principal of the Anglo-French loan—which is the senior loan secured on the salt revenues. All the areas of the said loan are now wiped out by the present payment. The achievement is certainly one of which the Chinese Government may well be proud, considering the present depression, and—more important reason still—the fact that the proportion of salt revenues due from Manchuria for payment of China's salt-secured loans have never been received, since 1931, although the puppet "state," through its Japanese mouth-piece, had made a declaration to the world promising to shoulder Manchuria's share of China's foreign debt obligations.

COASTAL SHIPPING RECOVERY

Another note-worthy fact to-day is that the Customs figures show a very appreciable growth of native shipping, which now, for the first time in recent history, forces vessels flying the British flag from premier place in China's coastal inter-port trade. The Shanghai entry and clearing figures for the first nine months of 1934, in comparison with the similar period in 1933, give a clear picture of this remarkable growth in Chinese shipping companies, for vessels flying the Chinese flag have now established a definite lead, both in number of ships and in gross tonnage, as compared with those of other countries. Last year, British shipping was unchallenged in the first place. Other foreign nations have also slipped from their positions of last year. The figures for the nine-month period from January to September are as follows:—

SERVICES DEFEATED

Armistice Day Football Match

H.E. THE G.O.C. KICKS OFF

The annual charity football match between the United Services and the Rest of The Colony in aid of "Poppy Day" fund was played off yesterday on the H.K. Football Club ground. The slight drizzle during the greater part of the day made the ground very slippery and was not conducive to good football. H.E. Major General O. C. Borrett kicked off at 4 p.m. before a comparatively small crowd. Both teams were presented to him prior to the commencement of the match. The Band of the 2nd Battalion, East Lancashire Regiment rendered selections prior to and during the interval of the game. The ball used in the game was donated by the China Emporium Co., Ltd., and was raffled for. The winning ticket being 1404.

Due to injuries received in the matches on Saturday various players originally selected to take part were unable to do so and a reshuffle of the two teams had to be made. The Services won the toss and H.E. Major General Borrett kicked off for the "Rest." Play opened very evenly, for the first ten minutes of the game both goals being visited in turn. Cord was called in early to deal with shots from Fung and at the other end Rodgers was tested weakly by Glass. Play was quickly transferred to midfield and from one of his characteristic long passes Fung sent it ahead only to see the ball go behind.

A good movement by the Rest inside trio was nullified by Tam being offside. The Services were now attacking and Rodgers was called upon to deal with several shots. Wong (S.C.) sent the right wing along and from his centre, Cord failed to hold the slippery ball, Fung rushing in to put the leather into the net to give the Rest their first goal.

The Services were not daunted. They strived hard to obtain the equaliser but somehow their forwards did not seem to find their shooting boots. From a perfect pass by Fung from the right Tam rushed in and met the ball perfectly with his head to net the Rest's second goal. Immediately thereafter Jones brought Rodgers to his knees with a good shot and again Rodgers just managed to put his foot to one of Smith's shots. Rodgers was again called upon to deal with several close shots and he handled them splendidly. At the other end Fung was going close to scoring another but Cord rushed out and cleared in the nick of time. The interval arrived without further score.

After the change over the play was more even. Both sides having some good exchanges. Syd Strange was playing splendidly at back and it was due to his efforts that the Services were prevented from scoring on more than one occasion. Play was even faster than in the first half, the ball travelling up and down the line in quick succession. The Services were attacking strongly but somehow or other their forwards did not seem able to score, there being an inclination to pass even though a drive might have produced a goal.

The Rest's right wing Wong (S.J.) was spoiling many good movements being unable to return the passes directed by the forwards.

Both goals were having some anxious moments and Rodgers was called upon to save several long shots from Pardoe and Mac-Guire. Ip, receiving from Silva Netto, ran down the wing and centred splendidly only to see Cord rushing out to intercept. Many of Ip's centres went begging. Mathias tested Rodgers on several occasions but the Rest's custodian seemed to be playing at his best. Both sides were being called in turn to clear continuously and the final whistle sounded with the Services pressing, there being no further score.

THE PLAY

A score of two nil does not belie the trend of play. The Services deserved to have scored on more than one occasion. They seemed to lack cohesion. On the other hand the Rest's forwards were from S. China "A" with the exception of Wong from St. Joseph's. Their understanding was perfect, although there was a faulty break now and then. There was very little to choose between the halves, both set of defenders were playing at their best. Pyatt played a steady game and had the Tam-tp combination's movements frustrated on more than one occasion. Of the backs Syd Strange played a 'delightful' game, saving the Rest from certain goals now and again and was mainly responsible for the breaking up of the Services' dangerous movements. His anticipation was very timely. This was a different Strange to the one that played in the match against the South China on Saturday.

Both goalkeepers had a lot to do. Rodgers brought off many fine saves. Although letting in two goals, Cord played his usual fine game. The first was due to the slippery state of the ball and he had no chance with the second. Tam's header was unstoppable.

Of the forwards, with the exception of Wong (S.J.) the Rest were playing their usual game, being team mates they understood each other's play. Not so with the Services. Individually they excelled but as a team, they lacked combination although Jones and Smith were triers, especially the latter, who dropped back often to assist the defence.

THE BISHOP'S MESSAGE

The Truest Memorial

Preaching to a large congregation at the Service of Commemoration and Hope at St. John's Cathedral yesterday morning, the Bishop of Victoria said:—

Two years before the Armistice was signed, I saw the truest memorial of the war. Two young lads lay opposite each other dead. Perhaps they had killed each other. One was German, the other British. That picture is a true War Memorial, because the end of war is not Victory, but Death. We are not met to celebrate Victory, but to stand in silence before the mystery of Death.

Those two dead lads are a true War Memorial of the Nations. For war has meant not Progress in general but decline, depression and decay. They are a true Memorial too of trade and commerce. Before the war Germany bought our boots and woollen goods in exchange for what we bought from her. Now that trade is dead. Commercial rivalry is suicide in disguise. It drives the nations on, until by war they turn on commerce and destroy her.

Those two dead lads are a true picture of something else that is dead in us—the capacity to profit by the lessons of the war.

We talk of Peace but have no power to achieve it. Though we know full well that another war will be the end of our Commonwealth, we go on trying to make that beloved Commonwealth secure, by preparing to fight in its defence. Like Ahab we go forward to meet our Ramoth Gilead. There seems no other way.

For the alternative is disarmament. But even if we disarm to save the Commonwealth which we cannot save by arms, we still cannot succeed. Whether by arming or disarming, we try to save our Commonwealth life, we can only lose it. He that saveth his life shall lose it.

There is an escape from the horrors of this dilemma. There is a way out—but we cannot take it. We cannot take the only way out, because our failure is not a failure in our intelligence, but in our emotions. We are not guilty of moral failure, but of emotional failure. We care more, all of us, I am not excepting myself, we care more for the well-being of our own dear country than we do for the well-being of humanity. It is no good kidding ourselves. We cannot, by an act

POLO CLUB GYMKHANA

Equine Experts Demonstrate Their Skill

On Saturday, a Gymkhana was held under the auspices of the Hongkong Polo Club. The grey skies, perhaps, kept a few would-be competitors and spectators away, but notwithstanding this, there was a large attendance. The meeting, which is the second of its kind this summer, was under the patronage of Major General and Mrs. O. C. Borrett.

The Gymkhana commenced at two o'clock with the Handy Hunters Competition. Most of the horses appeared a trifle nappy, and the "in and out" particularly seemed to worry them. The final result was:—

1. Mr. Greig.
2. Mr. Yates.
Mr. Charles and Mr. Macnamara also put up good rounds.

Sublime To Ridiculous

The second item was a change from the cut and dried horseman-ship of the first. It was the Shopping Race. Competitors were lined up at the end of the Polo Ground. Each was presented with a small slip of paper on which was written the name of an article varying from books to beer-mugs. They then had to gallop to a pile of articles, search for that which was written on their slip of paper, and gallop back with chit and article to the judge. One competitor, a gentleman, was asked to produce a brassiere. He turned a rich, strawberry roan and promptly fell from his horse. He would probably have done so in any case. The result of this event was:—

1. Mr. Tony Keswick.
2. Mr. R. Allen.

Gretna Green Race

The next item was the Gretna-Green Race where pairs of competitors galloped the length of the Polo Ground changed their clothing and galloped back holding hands. Mr. Yates and Miss Pamela Scott Harston were easy winners. Miss Betty Fair had a nasty fall, and was lucky to escape injury.

Whistling from the Withers

Lovers of music in the Colony might not perhaps have been over-delighted by the next event, The Whistling Race, but it afforded excellent fun for the spectators. The competitors entered in pairs. The hapless males had to gallop to their partners, drink a glass of liquid (unfortunately non-intoxicating), and eat a most indigestible biscuit. Not content with this remarkable feat they had to whistle a well known tune, the name of which they had previously written on a piece of paper. Their partners made the best guess they could, wrote it down on a piece of paper, and the tireless men had then to gallop back with both chits to the judge.

Lt.-Commr. Skyrme and Miss Anne Dodwell won this event. It is a great tribute to his endurance and her perspicacity.

Very "Very Difficult"

The next event was, from the spectator's point of view, the star turn on programme. The Obstacle Race.—And what obstacles! Competitors had to mount, jump a flight of hurdles, dismount, jump over a rail, eat a banana, on horse-back this mark you, remove an apple from a bucket with their mouths, and finally gallop to the finishing line without even a saddle to help them. This race was gallantly won by Miss Joan Dowbiggin. Mr. Muspratt Williams was second.

Open Jumping

A more serious form of equitation then held the attention of the spectators. This was the Open Jumping. After some clever display Miss Betty Fair was awarded first prize. Mr. Crawford was second, and Mr. Macnamara third. It was a most creditable display on Miss Fair's part, especially in consideration of her fall earlier in the afternoon.

The last event on the programme was the Ricksha Race. The entries for this were also in pairs. The gentleman galloped the length of the Polo Field and gave their ponies to grooms. So did the ladies, but they had the advantage that the last part of this course they travelled in a ricksha, pulled by their now exhausted male partners.

Prize Giving

At the conclusion of the Gymkhana Mrs. O. C. Borrett presented the prizes. She was awarded three hearty cheers.

Among those present were Lt.-Col. and Mrs. Williams, Major and Mrs. Gottwalt, Capt. and Mrs. Hope, recently returned Capt. J. Jordan, The Hon. Mr. C. Gordon Mackie, Miss Jean Mackie, Mrs. G. F. Hole, Mrs. S. H. and Miss S. Dodwell, Mrs. Turner and the Messes Fair, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Bousfield, Mrs. McAvoy, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Potts, Miss M. Smalley, Col. F. Nosworthy, Mr. J. Scott Harston, Lt.-Commr. Fenton, Mr. Bob Charles, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Stanton, and many others.

Great credit is due to Captain J. L. Jordan and his helpers for the excellent organization of every event. We hope to see more of these Gymkhana meetings next year.

HIGHER PRICE OF GOLD

Assisting Trade
 Recovery

London, Nov. 10.
 International trade recovery should be greatly assisted by the higher price of gold, which, apart from stimulating production in West Africa and elsewhere, and eliminating the fears of a scarcity of the metal, will increase the buying powers of certain countries, especially the South-American republics which have been hard hit by the fall of commodity prices, giving them time to stage a fresh lease of business life, states Mr.
 Henry Schroder in the "Quarterly Review."

Russia is prominent among the countries profiting by the growing output of metal and the high price, and is expected to displace Canada for second place among the world's gold-producing countries. Her buying power should be so greatly stimulated as to prove an important factor in European
 recovery.

The increased world production will be largely absorbed by speculative purchases and hoarding, but it is inevitable that the increase of gold-backing for credit will have the same effect as the discovery and the development of the Rand, namely, a period of activity and prosperous enterprise which was only terminated by the war.

TREASURY BILLS

 with 5/7.86d last week—

 record, and local loans "Threes"

THE EXCHANGE MARKET

MESSRS. ROZA BROS.

Silver prices were steady yesterday at 23 1/2 for Ready and 23 1/4 for Forward, recording rise of 3/16 for both deliveries. India and China were reported to have bought but the latter also sold.
 The market closed with a firmish tone reflecting reluctance on the part of sellers. Silver in New York was higher at 53 1/2.
 Sterling eased to an opening rate in New York of 4.98 1/2 and closed higher at 4.99 1/2.

Indications of strength at the opening but subsequently the market eased off slightly.

Opened with sellers at 1/7 13/16
 but the selling rate gradually rose to 1/7 1/2 at which rate a small business was done for near delivery.
 Subsequently 1/7 29/32 was reported for near delivery. At this stage the market eased off slightly and buyers came out again at 1/7 1/2 resulting in business at that rate for December and January.
 Towards the close business was done "at 1/7 27/32, for near delivery, finishing with sellers at 1/7 13/16 November, 1/7 27/32 December and 1/7 1/2 January, buyers

REICHSBANK RETURN

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Berlin, Nov. 9.
 A special interesting feature of the Reichsbank return dated November 7 issued on Friday is the payment of 4.5 million marks gold, equivalent to 400,000 pounds sterling. Germany undertook to remit to England "immediately upon the signature of the new Anglo-German Payments Agreement. An official comment reads:
 "In view of the already immediately shrunken gold and devisa reserves of the Reichsbank, this new diminution means a heavy sacrifice which can only be justified by the expectation of a reflux of the sum now expended as the result of increased Anglo-German merchandise exchange."

Gold stock declined 4.7 million Reichsmarks to 77.8 millions, foreign currencies increased 0.3 millions to 4.2, making a net decline in note-cover of 4.4 millions to 82 million Reichsmarks. Note-issue declined 171.8 millions to 365.1
 million marks. The amount of credit issued as measured by bills, cheques, advances and investments
 declined 138.0 millions to 4000.2
 million Reichsmarks—

RAW RUBBER

Messrs H. B. Joseph and Co. received the following Straits Currency quotations from Singapore for Raw Rubber.
 Jan.—March 22 3/4 down 1/4.
 April—June 24 3/4 down 1/4.
 Market:—Steady.

Trams remained firm with sales reported at $19.35 and more shares could be placed at this rate. Among the minor issues, Hotels and Lights were wanted at $4.80 and $6.80 respectively. Cements were in favour again with buyers at $2.00 for near deliveries. In the sterling section Banks and Unions were transacted at $1645 and $620 respectively. The tone of the market at the close is quietly steady.
 Business during the week has been done at the following prices:—
 Hongkong Banks, $1640.
 Wharves, $109.
 Water boats, $12.90/13.
 Hotels, $4.45/4.70.
 Humphreys, $9.15.
 Ewos, $9.20.
 Hongkong Lands, $61.00.
 Hongkong Trams, $164.
 Entertainments, $3.80.
 Gold Rivers, 22 cents.

GERMAN SHARE MARKET

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Berlin, Nov. 11.
 As happens frequently at the week-end, buying slowed up in the sharemarket on Saturday so that prices tended to sag, though as a rule the declines were not great.
 The whole market was supported by the publication of the figures of unemployment showing a further decrease in the number of jobless.
 The turnover in fixed interest securities was small, price exchanges infrequent, gold and mortgage bonds a shade lower and city loans were mostly unaltered.

Call Money 3 1/2 to 4. Young Loan declined 1/2 to 85 1/2. Reichsbank weakened 1/2 to 14 1/2. Dyestuffs improved 1/2 to 13 1/2. Salzkammergut jumped 2 1/2 to 147. German Steel Trusts 1/2 firmer to 39. German Mineral Oils dropped 1/2 to 10 1/2.
 Siemenshalske 1/2 better to 135.
 Bemberg Rayon declined 1/2 to 130.
 With the exception of special cases, notably banking and shipping shares, all prices were higher at the end of the week than at the beginning both in shares and fixed interest securities. This result was unmistakable, attributable to the relaxation of the tension in the international political situation.
 The upward trend began Tuesday after Sir John Simon's speech in the House of Commons about the exchange of views between Laval and Koestner on the same theme. The turnover was not great throughout but the outlook was undoubtedly viewed with greater optimism—

WARNING FOR UNQUALIFIED PILOTS

The Pilot Control Committee recently issued a notice emphasizing that it would exercise its authority in proceeding against any unqualified pilots under the Criminal Law should they pilot vessels within the Woosung-Shanghai area. The notice also stated that fines would be imposed upon ships' captains for having engaged such unqualified pilots. The notice was issued to counteract the activities of unqualified pilots in opposing the Customs authorities and the committee, in consequence of the refusal of the Customs authorities to issue clearance papers for the s.s. Tsung Woo on the grounds that the pilots for the Whangpoo was unqualified and not registered with the committee.

ORIENT LINER ORION

Duke To Launch By Pressing Button

London, Nov. 9.

The Duke of Gloucester while attending a concert at Brisbane on December 7 will launch the new Orient liner, Orion, now building at Barrow in Furness.

By pressing a button an electrical impulse will be sent by landline to Sydney and thence by radio and telephone trunk lines to Barrow where it will close the power circuit and release the ship which will immediately glide into water.

The Orion will be the first ship of the British mercantile marine to be launched by wireless telephone.

The new liner will be approximately 24,000 tons gross. She contains gas light chambers for the transport of chilled meat from Australia.—British Wireless.
